How to Graduate in the School of Holiness Principle 7: Develop Righteous Indignation Against Sin

By Rev. Sergio Scataglini

While on a plane to New York, I was reading a book on revival and I felt blessed. I was in the presence of the Lord.

As I read, at one point I lifted my eyes and looked at the screen. The movie was filthy. I could not believe they would play that in a public place. It did not bother me personally; I just wanted to keep reading my book. I did not have a righteous indignation against sin; I just wanted to mind my own business.

Yet, I was curious to see how many more people were watching that movie. So I looked around; the entire section of the plane was watching that movie, including a little girl 8 or 9 years old.

Until that moment, nothing had happened in my heart, but when I saw that little girl watching that trash, a righteous anger came upon me.

Because I could do nothing about it, I began to weep and said, "Lord, I feel so powerless, do something, Lord."

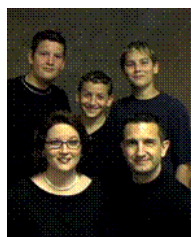

A PART OF HOLINESS IS HATING SIN

I thought maybe the Lord would tell me to stand up and begin to preach. Airplanes are great places to preach—people cannot get off. That is a captive audience!

However, the Lord told me to kneel down; so I knelt down right there at my seat. I was broken; I was crushed. I prayed, "Lord, can you do something?"

Scataglini Family News by Kathleen Scataglini

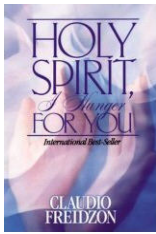

We have been praying live on the internet six days a week for several weeks. The sense of expectation is growing, as we are joined by pastors and friends from many different nations. We are praying for an increase in the miraculous—in the manifest power of God—in our lives and ministries. He will be glorified!

These meetings began in response to our son's eye and brain injuries he suffered at the beginning of the summer. We now know that God is going to do so much more than heal only our son, Miq! We have begun to hear the testimonies of others being healed, as we pray for them in these meetings. You can join us in prayer at www.comunionet.com, Mon.-Sat., 7 pm CT. ☐

Testimonies

I just read The Fire of His Holiness and I just wanted to say how it has blessed me. I am still on fire from the impartation I received. I came across the book from a pure leading of the Spirit; I read it in a day and a half, and found your [web] site in the back of the book. God set me up, because you just happen to be coming to my town in August! Praise God, I can't wait to see what the Lord will do! Jason, USA

Hi, I went to the Breakthrough Conference in Alberta [Canada] with a small group from our church here in Ontario. I want to let you know that your ministry was of great blessing to us there and your book continues to challenge me to seek 100% holiness for my Lord. Sandra, Canada

I have just read your wonderful book, The Fire of His Holiness, and God has touched me. I have been a Baptist minister, but since I got handicapped children, I am out of work. But I feel God is calling me back to preach the gospel.

A few moments later, I sat back in my seat. The Lord told me to look at the movie screen. (I was trying to read my book on revival and forget about the whole thing.) I looked at the movie screen, I saw nothing unusual—the movie was still playing—so I kept reading.

Then the Lord said strongly, "Look to the screen". As I looked at the screen, it went off. I looked at another one; the moment I looked at it, it, too, went off. Then the next, the next one—out, out, out! Nobody watched the end of that movie. God had done something!

A few moments later, I went to the airline attendant, and said, "It looks like the video isn't working." She was very apologetic, and said they were trying to get it to work. "The video is working in every other section of the plane, except this one!". I thought to myself, "The next time, I am going to pray with more faith, so that that movie will not work in the entire plane!

Please know that God will do something in your favor. He will assist you and help you to live a holy life. Holiness is not only loving God, but it is hating sin.
